Concerns raised over quarry expansion plan

Brookby Quarries Ltd has applied under the COVID 19 fast-track consenting process to expand operations at its Kimptons Road site (pictured above). Image / Google Earth, July 2024.

An application to expand Brookby Quarry's operations has drawn questions and criticism from local residents, environmental groups and local council.

Brookby Quarries Ltd has applied under the COVID-19 Fast Track Consenting Act, seeking to extract up to 110 million tonnes of aggregate over the next 60 years - enough aggregate to pave about 100,000 kilometres of road.

The application proposes removing 30ha of indigenous vegetation and habitat, including a 13ha endangered taraire forest, and the removal of over 1700m of streams.

To compensate for the destruction of a Significant Natural Area (SNA) within its Stage 3 works, Brookby Quarries proposes to carry out offset planting at Motutapu Island. The quarry has support for this proposal from local iwi Ngāi Tai ki Tāmaki, provided that required remediation and restoration works are carried out and cultural assessments are undertaken.

Brookby Quarries says that if approved, the Stage 3 expansion project will generate about 65 full time jobs over 60 years, and will provide much-needed aggregate for construction of infrastructure in the Auckland area.

The matter is being considered by a panel of experts, who have invited affected parties to submit their views on the fast-track application.

Forest & Bird says it is the first application it is aware of which has been accepted as a referred project under the fast-track legislation, despite potential for obvious significant adverse effects resulting from the removal of a large area of indigenous vegetation and streams.

Department of Conservation (DOC) Director-General Trevor Ellis has also commented on the application, saying the proposed quarry extension will have significant impacts on conservation and ecological values within the affected site, with little or no scope to avoid, remedy or mitigate those impacts. DOC says compensation for biodiversity loss, particularly in respect of the vulnerable taraire and podocarp forests, would not be appropriate, and that offset planting would provide better outcomes as a mitigation measure.

Guest editorial by Hūnua Ararimu Paparimu Valley Residents Association

Game on for Hūnua, Ararimu and Paparimu Valleys

Students from Hūnua, Ararimu and Paparimu Primary schools will get help to attend YMCA Camp Adair’s special games event this year, thanks to a donation by the residents’ association.

Hūnua Ararimu Paparimu Residents Association (HAPVRA) recently donated $2,000 to the schools to help cover the costs of a week-long event run by Camp Adair that provides an alternative to the Association of Intermediate and Middle School games held in Tauranga each year. More than 30 south Auckland urban and rural schools attended the camp last year, which features team sports like lacrosse, Ki o Rahi - Taonga Tākaro (a traditional Māori ball game), as well as rock climbing and chess.

HAPVRA co-chair Geraldine Schnauer says the funds couldn’t go to a better cause: “Times are tough for our school communities, and we wanted to find a way to help ensure our local children were able to still attend the camp.

“YMCA Camp Adair has made Hūnua world-famous in New Zealand. There wouldn’t be too many Aucklanders who haven’t attended the camp at some point in their lifetime. They provide a wonderful array of outdoor activities that provide lasting memories in a magical bush setting beside the Wairoa River.”

Hūnua School deputy principal Nick Gage says the funding has been well received: “A massive thanks to HAPVRA for the donation — I know the families will really appreciate that contribution!”

HAPVRA is making progress in other areas. Auckland Council funding has allowed them to take on a part-time social media manager to help raise awareness of HAPVRA’s activities as well as to document efforts to rid the Wairoa River of pest crack willows, whose roots create clogging and exacerbate flooding. In May, TVNZ’s ‘Seven Sharp’ show filmed residents together with members of ‘Friends of Te Wairoa’ drilling holes into branches and inserting herbicide tablets to eradicate willows along a Paparimu stretch of the river. Progress is being monitored to see how quickly the herbicide takes effect. Franklin Local Board is also providing funding towards a new website. This will provide a repository of local information, as well as emergency contacts. These will include links to the new Pohutukawa Coast Emergency Community Response Team. HAPVRA recently voted to join as a sub-group as a way of sharing information and to help provide a coordinated response to natural disasters.

This includes a proposal to follow the lead of Clevedon, Beachlands and Kawakawa Bay and install CCTV security cameras in Hunua village.

Rotary Club of Pōhutukawa Coast welcomes new president

Long serving Rotary President Alex Garden was happy to hand over the reins to John Stacey at a recent Rotary meeting. Most Rotary clubs have a more formal meeting with the handing over of the presidential chain, however possibly due to lack of use, the chain has gone missing and in the photo pictured right Alex is shown handing over a spare chain link to signify the changeover!

John Stacey has been a Rotarian for seven years and is well known for his support and work around the Dr Ada Platt-Mills Reserve in Maraetai. He is also the event director for the Trolley Derby that Rotary began managing several years ago.

Alex discussed the recent changes in the way Rotary funds groups and individuals. Most funds are raised via the GJ Gardner Beachlands Maraetai Trolley Derby and Rotary ALLFIT Coastal Fun Run. The proceeds are combined and then a funding round is advertised, normally in May every year. Rotary Trust trustees consider all applications for each funding round, before money is dispersed to successful applicants.

This year's funding recipients were: Whitford Pony Club, Bellyful East Auckland, Equine Assisted Therapy, Beachlands Maraetai Rugby Club, Maraetai Beach School, Beachlands Maraetai Playcentre, and help to a local young person for an overseas language trip. Playcentre received a significant grant to help with playground equipment replacement which was highlighted in a recent PC Times article.

The Rotary Club of Pōhutukawa Coast meets twice a month, in the evening on the 2nd and 4th Thursdays at the Beachlands Log Cabin in Wakelin Road.

Members of the public and representatives of community groups are especially invited to the more informal 4th Thursday meeting where there will normally be a speaker, or presentation of interest, together with wine and nibbles.

Clevedon resident launches country's first wheelchair e-bikes

A Clevedon resident has launched the country's first range of wheelchair e-bikes.

Rod Milner has been at the helm of Rod Milner Motors for the past 40 years. He imported his first wheelchair accessible vehicle almost 30 years ago to give his wife and family more independence, and since then has become Aotearoa's largest supplier of disability vehicles.

Last month Milner Mobility launched an e-bike with the capability of transporting a wheelchair. The e-bike range includes an innovative bike design that enables a wheelchair user to ride comfortably as a passenger in their own wheelchair without needing to transfer between the wheelchair and the bike. A family member or friend steers and pedals the bike.

The VeloPlus e-bike features a tiltable ramp that allows users to roll onto a platform before safely securing the wheelchair to the bike with its integrated locking system.

The innovative design has a low centre of gravity, widely placed front wheels and a short turning circle to make cycling on the wheelchair bike stable, safe and easy.

An electric pedal assist feature transforms the VeloPlus into a smart e-bike, a must for tackling hills.

Almost every wheelchair is compatible with VeloPlus, which can carry up to 200kg, making it suitable for diverse users.

The current range also includes a second e-bike, OPair, a custom-designed Milner Mobility is the first to import a range of e-bikes which can transport wheelchairs.

wheelchair that can be detached for independent use once the passenger reaches their destination. The sleek frame of OPair's detachable wheelchair is not as wide as a standard wheelchair, making it suitable for transport in narrower spaces like cafes and other public spaces with limited room.

The bike is suitable for children and adults and is designed for versatility and convenience, with a spacious seat that adapts to every passenger's size and needs. OPair can be adjusted for depth, backrest angle, and expandable side rests.

Its slightly angled front wheels offer stability to enhance driver control and passenger confidence.

Each bike connects to an app that provides information including route and distance travelled, average speed and battery usage.

Milner Mobility says both designs will revolutionise outdoor access for the people they are designed for.

The business has two additional bikes in the pipeline, with the Chat and Fun2Go expected to arrive in New Zealand this year.

The Chat is a rickshaw-style bike that is ideal for cruising with kids or adults who can't cycle independently. One driver pedals the e-bike while one or two passengers sit in front in a padded, comfortable, side-by-side cockpit.

The Fun2Go bike allows two people to cycle side-by-side on an ergonomic, comfy three-wheeler. While one person steers, both riders pedal. This bike is easy to access, with no stepping needed and with adjustable seat heights. It's also highly manoeuvrable, turning on a dime thanks to its two rear wheels and one front.

Retailing at $22,000 the VeloPlus and OPair are available from milnermobility.co.nz.

Whitney came into care after she was found lost and alone on a local rural property. Pretty, playful, loving and suitable older, respectful children. Adorable Whitney will make a fabulous companion in most situations. Whitney is fostered with a small friendly dog and other cats and kittens. Whitney will be de-sexed, microchipped (will be registered to new owner), will receive her first vaccination, will be vet checked, is treated for fleas and worms and is eligible for six weeks pet insurance

(subject to Terms and Conditions). She will be available after recovering from surgery (early July). ## Concerns raised over quarry expansion plan

The Ara-Kotinga Residents Association, a group of locals whose properties lie near the quarry, have questioned why the expansion is necessary.

"With current approved consents held amounting to nearly 100 years of quarrying we ask why is the quarry footprint being expanded? Why has this suddenly become urgent and is being fast tracked under Covid urgency legislation, perhaps to avoid proper scrutiny of all the adverse impacts," says the association in its submission.

Franklin Ward councillor Andrew Baker also questions the fast-track pathway, saying: "My only comment is that I am unsure as to why this cannot be dealt with through standard consenting processes."

Franklin Local Board chair Angela Fulljames expanded upon this view in her submission, saying: "The board believes this application should follow the existing Resource Consent Application process given the immediate community was involved in the last application. It provides the process where further information can be provided publicly and enables mitigation measures to be put forward by the community. Concerns about the impact on blast frequency, dust nuisance, water usage, and other environmental impacts can also be transparently communicated and understood. The roads and bridges leading in and out of Brookby have not been built for heavy haulage and truck numbers are of concern for this community. There is also opportunity to place any offset planting back into local projects already underway which would benefit from further support, such as the Papakura Stream and tributaries to the Wairoa River."

While the quarry has not applied for any changes to the number of trucks entering and exiting the site under the proposed expansion plans, residents believe increased truck numbers would be inevitable.

The Ara-Kotinga group say: "We suggest Brookby Quarry Limited apply for an increase in truck numbers at this stage when the full effects of an expanding quarry can be assessed rather than using the piece-meal approach to consent application that has been the approach by BQL in the past and it would seem also be used in this instance. The full effect of expanding the quarry footprint can then be better assessed. Alternately BQL should accept a condition of this application that there be no increase in truck numbers for another 50 years."

The residents group has also requested that the quarry construct a public access trail that would enhance the network of existing and proposed trails in the Whitford/Brookby area.

Matariki breakfast

When it's Matariki at school we go to school early and when I say early, I mean early. We had to get there at 6.30am!! When I came out of my house I saw starlink. That was cool.

When I got to school my sister and me sat by the firepit. Then we could eat. There was bacon and eggs and hash browns. I ate lots. I didn't want the hot chocolate because I was so full. We threw our wishes for next year on the fire. When everyone was starting to leave we roasted marshmallows. Then we did some learning and we watched a movie.
