Willmer clocks personal best time at Paralympics

- by AUT journalism student Henry Lee

Joshua Willmer has been passionate about swimming for as long as he can remember.

From growing up in Kawakawa Bay to winning a gold medal for Aotearoa in the Para-sport programme at the Commonwealth Games in Birmingham in 2022, Joshua has seen himself grow as a person, in and out of the pool.

The nineteen-year-old is a left arm amputee below the elbow, and last month competed as part of the 25-strong New Zealand team at the Paralympics in Paris.

Joshua competed in the 100M SB8 Breaststroke race, the same event that he won gold in at the 2022 Commonwealth Games in Birmingham. The youngest swimmer in his heat, he achieved a personal best time of 1 minute and 12 seconds

- beating his own New Zealand record, but missing out on qualification for the final by one place. His time was just six seconds short of the Paralympic world record for this event, currently held by Ukraine's Andriy Kalyna.

Joshua says his journey to becoming a competitive swimmer began with his childhood.

"I grew up in Kawakawa Bay so definitely learning to swim was a must, which probably led me to swim but I loved swimming from a young age. Mum always took me to swim programmes because she said 'we are surrounded by water so you have to learn to swim'. By doing swimming lessons

Member of the New Zealand Community Newspapers Association

Guest editorial by Hūnua, Ararimu & Paparimu Valley Residents Association

Why we're all in this together.

Looking back. Moving forwards.

How did rural residents take on a power-hungry organisation with plans to string megatowers through their valleys? Homeowners against Line Trespassers, or HALT, was the determined group of locals from Hūnua, Ararimu, Paparimu, Clevedon and Bombay who banded together to take on the Goliath of Transpower in 2004.

New to the community, fresh from the city, I was astonished at the apparent lack of planning that had gone into the Transpower proposal to run pylons through privately owned farmland.

This was beyond NIMBY. People came up with audacious solutions (the most obvious, as evidenced around the world and in Aotearoa, was to bury the lines), as well as provocative things to do with the megatowers themselves. Other genius, grounded suggestions included placing pylons in the Hūnua Ranges, as well as investigating other power sources such as hydro from the notorious Manukau and Pahurehure inlets.

This wasn't about preventing the delivery of power to Auckland. It was about how that delivery was to be implemented. When the then CEO of Transpower (where could he be now?) was asked where the power was going to come from, his reply was far from articulate.

Thousands of pages of documents were dissected; scientists, engineers, ecologists and doctors contributed their knowledge and skill. People with businesses, farms, families put in blood, sweat and tears and hundreds of hours to combat the heavily funded and resourced Transpower forces.

The community rallied; a historic march from the Hūnua School to the Hūnua Hall where the black shirted Transpower execs played at 'consulting'. No wonder locals wince when they hear that the local or central Government is 'consulting', as the decision had been made behind closed doors.

The residents who lived through this in the early 2000s experienced loss of land value, and, heart breakingly, of generational land. Not to mention impacts on mental, physical and spiritual health.

Today more people are actively seeking alternative sources of power, through wind and solar farms, as well as ways to be less connected with the grid. The recent toppling of a Northland pylon reminded some of us of the negative impact (excuse the pun) of these structures, and that a catastrophic collapse of the network could happen.

The sky is falling.

Before climate change became a crisis, it was the Christchurch earthquakes that motivated members of HAPVRA to reach out to Civil Defence (at that time) to develop an Emergency response plan.

Top of mind was the fact that as Hūnua was responsible for 60 per cent of Auckland's water (those beautiful Hūnua Ranges and dams) we thought we would be top of the list for rescue.

That proved not quite to be the case with the flooding of the Wairoa River and Camp Adair and more recently the 'Auckland storms' and cyclone Gabrielle. As a voice for the three valleys, HAPVRA doubled down on exploring ways to become more resilient.

Shifting landscape.

Fast forward to 2024 and HAPVRA is bolstering its focus to help protect and nurture its environment, and the people. That hasn't shifted in two decades. But the landscape its volunteers work in, has.

To do this takes more than a team of determined volunteers with shared purpose, it requires resource to be able to address and manage the many moving parts of the environmental jigsaw. In the past year HAPVRA has applied for and received funding through Franklin Local Board and Auckland Council to support us in developing environmental and emergency management, and disaster resilience planning. This work will take up at least the next 12-24 months.

HAPVRA is collaborating with other groups and communities to build ongoing resilience so that when the recently announced "80 per cent chance of another Gabrielle within 50 years" happens, locals will be prepared, ready, and able.

How? Watch this space.

Clevedon Rural Library not at risk, says Franklin Local Board

A reference in last week's Franklin Local Board article that the library service at Clevedon was being 'replaced' with a mobile service was incorrect. The plan provides for the library to be relocated, and all existing services will be maintained. Because the board does not have funding in place for the initiative, any change is still some way off.

and moving up in each group I ended up doing squad swimming at my local swim club [in Papakura].”

“I’ve played other sports as a kid, I always wanted to play rugby league but ended up playing touch and other sports growing up”.

Joshua’s life today is a balancing act between his 25-hours-per-week job at a car mechanics, and a gruelling training schedule.

“My weekly schedule is hectic at the moment, my day consists of training early in the morning and then training again in the afternoon.”

Joshua explains that being a Paralympic athlete has its unique challenges.

“Being different from everyone else, you kinda have to adapt to certain things at training and some things are easy, and some things take longer to learn.”

Willmer recently broke three New Zealand records at the 2023 Para World Championships in Manchester, England. He swam his first 50m of the SB8 100m heat with a time of 34.79 seconds, before breaking that same record in the final, swimming 34.62 seconds.

Whitford Pony Club faces critical challenge at start of Pony Club season

Whitford Pony Club faces a significant financial challenge following a recent council notice requesting the removal of sponsors’ roadside signage from the club’s privately owned grounds. The notice came about as the result of an anonymous individual’s complaint about the signs.

Whitford Pony Club has been a community asset for over 50 years, and the club says it relies heavily on sponsors’ signage as a major source of income.

“Signage contributes to approximately one-quarter of the club’s annual revenue, which is crucial for maintaining the grounds, purchased through fundraising in the 1970s, and supporting its ongoing operations,” says president Denise Berry.

The Club is part of the New Zealand

Pony Clubs Association (NZPCA), a not-for-profit, voluntary organisation for young people interested in ponies/horses and riding.

Denise says the club provides instruction on riding and pony/horse management with a structured certificate system that enables young people to gain qualifications, promoting the highest ideals of behaviour, sportsmanship, citizenship and loyalty, to create strength of character and self discipline.

“Whitford Pony Club, whilst open to all, serves a predominantly young membership base, offering a healthy and enriching environment for children and teenagers to engage in equestrian activities.”

Maintaining the 32 acre iconic green space involves substantial costs. The club is managed by a dedicated core group of volunteers including coaches, groundskeepers and committee members who work tirelessly to ensure the club remains open.

“Without the support of the local community sponsors, and the Whitford Trust, we face a real risk of struggling to maintain this community asset,” says Denise.

“We are committed to resisting offers from developers and continue to strive to keep the club operational for the benefit of our young members and the community.”

In order to remain viable the club says it is now actively seeking additional financial support from the community and local businesses.

The club runs a number of events over the pony club season that regularly attract over 100 riders and supporters.

Denise says the club’s next Show Cross event, scheduled for mid December, will provide a great sponsorship opportunity for local businesses to show their support and raise their community profile.

For more information on how to support the Whitford Pony Club or to inquire about potential partnerships, contact Denise Berry, email whitfordponyclub@gmail.com.

Kōkako artwork inspires conservation efforts at Beachlands School

Local artist Sandra Russell says she spent “countless” hours refining her painting of a kōkako, which has now been installed at Beachlands School.

Beachlands School acting principal Lisa Bethune says the mural has been placed at the entrance to the school’s Kaiawa Garden.

“This is a tranquil place of native bush walks, produce gardens, orchard, bees hives, chickens, our Enviro room and Trees for survival programme. It will become a meeting place for the schools Environment for Sustainability EFS leaders, school students and community,” says Lisa.

“The mural will act as an everyday reminder that we are never too young to take environmental action. It highlights our local environmental challenges and the success story of the kōkako in the Hūnua Ranges. Beachlands School upholds the values of kaitiakitanga and as a green-gold enviro school we are constantly looking for ways we can both enhance and preserve our environment.

“As a school we are participating in the reduction of carbon production, trees for survival, garden to table, composting, enviro schools, recycling projects, pest monitoring, community clean ups, with the overarching focus of being constantly mindful of the conservation efforts we can do as a school.”

The artwork was commissioned by the Pōhutukawa Coast Rotary Club. Rotary president John Stacey says the previously endangered kōkako is now thriving in the Hūnua Ranges thanks to the ongoing work of staff and volunteers.

“The purpose of the painting is to reinforce children’s interest in conservation and the environment,” says John.

Beachlands School students celebrated the painting’s installation with a talk by conservationist and author Lenny van Heugten, whose family are heavily involved in efforts to protect kōkako in Hūnua.

Rotary has commissioned Sandra to paint another bird for the Maraetai School.

If you are interested finding out more about the work Rotary does for the community email John at Pohutukawacoastrotary@gmail.com

Spring is the time to start raising all those delicious summer vegetables, and the Coastal Community Garden is offering support by way of a Community Garden seed swap event on 6 October from 2–3 pm at 41 Third Ave, Beachlands (next to Coastal Treasures).

Bring along your spare seedlings, seeds or cuttings and swap them with others for more variety in your edible garden.

The focus is on vegetables, fruit, herbs or edible flowers.

The Coastal Community Garden provides Coasters with access to fresh produce and support for growing your own. The seed swap is a chance to check out the garden and chat to the Gardeners' Club members.

October is the month to get started with your summer vegetables and herbs – it's time to get tomato, basil, eggplant, capsicum and courgette seedlings underway. Towards the end of the month you can plant them out – a grey, drizzly day is best for planting, avoid hot sunshine as it stresses the seedlings. It's also a great time for crops that don't like it too hot – lettuce, coriander and radish seeds can be sown directly into the ground for fresh salads.

Medical care secured for Bay

A vital service for isolated Franklin rural communities has secured new leases. Kawakawa Bay Ōrere Health Clinic Incorporated operates from Auckland Council-owned sites at both communities, providing critical medical services to residents.

Franklin Local Board chair Angela Fulljames says the clinics play an essential role in the community.

“Many of us take being able to go and see our doctors for granted, but when you are in a more remote part of the city, access to good medical care close at hand is something you cherish.”

Board approves land for use as community garden

Kawakawa Bay residents should hit the five-plus a day fruit and veg rule now a community garden has been given the nod.

Franklin Local Board has given landowner approval to the Kawakawa Bay Community Association to establish a garden at 13R Karaka Road, land currently grazed by livestock belonging to a neighbouring farmer.

The proposal will see fencing put in, edible flowers, fruit trees, root vegetables and herbs grown in raised beds, and even includes a chicken coop.

Te Puru Trust granted $480k

Te Puru Community Charitable Trust has been granted $480,000 over the next three years from Auckland Council's Sport and Recreation Operating Grants.

“Every family knows Te Puru is the heart of sport and recreation in the Beachlands-Maraetai area,” Franklin ward Councillor Andy Baker says.

“The trust does a fine job and that security of operational funding will be welcome.”

Council also allocated $315,000 in funding for the Auckland, North Harbour and Counties-Manukau hockey associations - $105,000 a year for three years, through the fund.

Experience unforgettable year-end celebrations at John Hill Estate: a hidden gem in Hūnua

- by John Hill Estate

John Hill Estate is a boutique vineyard and restaurant run by the Davis family and friends, located in Hūnua, south-east Auckland. Geoff planted the first grapevines in 2006, and once wine was produced a couple of years later, the cellar door opened to the public offering platters and wine tasting.

The estate grows and produces Syrah, Merlot, Cabernet Franc, Pinot Gris and the delicious Rosé. Wines are dry and light in style; easy drinking and approachable is the vineyard motto.

The restaurant was established in 2013 and has been a popular venue for locals and visitors ever since. If you are seeking a stunning and relaxed venue for your end of year get together, then check out the three and four course banquet menus and activities on offer at John Hill Estate.

The restaurant is set amongst the beautifully maintained vineyard and tropical landscaped gardens. Enjoy platters and welcome cocktails while participating in archery amongst the vines and/or laser clay target shooting over the picturesque Hūnua Valley, and watch the sunset.

Complete your afternoon seated in the contemporary and comfortable restaurant overlooking the vineyard. The restaurant and bar is fully licensed and very reasonably priced. For your end of year function you'll be served a shared three or four course banquet style meal, made up of multiple entrees, mains and desserts; all served by the friendly and welcoming staff.

Menus and activity details are available on the John Hill Estate website. The end of year banquet and activities combo has become a popular and recurring event for Auckland business and family groups over the last few years, and it's available from 1 November - 24 December. They have limited lunch and dinner availability remaining (from 12pm Weds-Sun), so enquire now to avoid disappointment!

Lisa has been a familiar face in our customer service team since the middle of 2018. Lisa has always wanted to work with animals, and she really can't remember a time in her life when she didn't have an animal in her family.

Her favourite thing about her job is our adorable patients, but the team she works with comes a close second. She loves that our clinic has a warm, friendly feel, and she thinks our clients would agree.

Lisa enjoys being part of an easy-going team, which has high standards and she appreciates how professional, sympathetic and knowledgeable our team is, and we think the same of her!

She is passionate about caring for older animals and being able to offer advice that will help them as they age. She enjoys educating clients about general health maintenance like worming, flea, tick, grooming, vaccinations, and food. She also has a strong interest in horses and uses her experience to pass on advice to our clients.

Her soft spot for our older patients likely comes from her beautiful 14-year-old labrador, Phoebe. She also has a gorgeous cat named Lucy and a granddog Indie.

As we mentioned, Lisa loves horses, she has four of her own - Spud, Roo, Thunder and Bobby. Outside of work, Lisa spends a lot of her time with her horses and at various horse events where she also does equine Equissage and traditional massage.

She loves getting out on their boat fishing and spending quality time with her family - something made even more special since the arrival of her grandson (of the human kind!) Oskar.

Beachlands Maraetai Rugby Club enjoys spectacular season

- by Beachlands Maraetai Rugby Club

What an incredible season 2024 has been for our rugby club! This year we've experienced fantastic growth, and now boast 18 teams, including four thriving Girls' Rippa teams. The club has worked tirelessly to create a supportive and welcoming environment where players of all ages can come together, foster their love for the game and build lasting connections.

Our hard work and commitment to rugby excellence have paid off in spectacular fashion. In a season filled with challenges, our U85s team reached the semi-finals, showing incredible determination and teamwork. Despite facing one of their toughest seasons yet, they came together for an inspiring performance.

Our Junior club has also seen outstanding success across the board, and the highlight of the year came with our Y8 Orange team. They played an epic final to become the 2024 Year 8 Connected champions! Facing a bigger and older Onewhero side, the Y8 Orange boys displayed their superior skills and executed backline moves they have been training all season to perfect, securing a well-deserved championship title.

Our Girls' Rippa teams have been a force to be reckoned with, especially our U15 girls, who completed yet another undefeated season. Their continued success is a testament to the growth of girls' rugby within our club, and we couldn't be more proud.

As we reflect on this amazing season, we are filled with pride for our players and gratitude for the families, coaches, and supporters who have contributed to making this year such a success. We look forward to building on these achievements as we continue to nurture a love for rugby across all levels of our club.

Now we look forward to celebrating together at our CLUB DAY on Sunday 29 September!

Club Day Highlights

- Prize giving
- Battle of the Bridge and junior games
- Cow Bingo fundraiser

Fun for everyone with a bouncy castle, mini donuts, slushies, real fruit ice cream, and more!

A coffee cart will serve hot drinks to keep you energised, and the Te Puru Bar will be open for refreshments. Don't miss out on the delicious offerings from Mamma's Kitchen and the Mitre 10

BBQ, both serving up mouth-watering food all day long.

The day will also feature our highly anticipated Cow Bingo, a highlight of the year and our major fundraiser. This time, you could win $5,000 cash by purchasing a ticket!

Tickets are available electronically, allowing friends and family nationwide to join in and support the club. At 1pm on the day, two calves will be released onto the field. If one of them makes its "contribution" on your designated square, you'll walk away with the grand prize!

Tickets are on sale until Thursday 26 September.

Everyone is welcome to join us for this fun-filled celebration of the club's fantastic achievements. We can't wait to see you all on CLUB DAY!

These are the sounds I hear at home, my house sounds just like poem.

Thump! Went my feet as I walk down the hall.

Bump! Went the ball as it hit the wall.

Knock! Went the courier I am in for a surprise.

Huffle Huffle! Went Mum and Dad as they compromise.

Splash! Went the bath, it's time to go to bed

Smooch! Went my Mum's lips as they kiss my head.

Now the sounds will go away, waiting for another day.
