Faultless day for Clevedon Tennis Tournament

It was sunshine and smiles last Saturday at the biennial Clevedon Coast Oysters Tennis Tournament. Dressed to impress, more than 100 competitors spent the day competing on private courts across the Clevedon area before gathering for dinner and prizegiving at the end of the day. The tournament is a major fundraiser for the Clevedon Tennis Club, which has plans to expand its facilities to include indoor courts, pickleball and padel in future.

Over the years we've been lucky enough to witness sightings of dolphins, huge work ups, whales and orcas from the shoreline, but recently rather than seeing 2 – 4 Orca, we were fortunate to see a huge pod of 10! They cruised through the shallows (up to only 2m deep), the larger males probably dragging their bellies on the sand looking for stingrays, seemingly unfazed by locals at the shore line. These incredible animals took their time prowling the entire beach and I couldn't help thinking about how privileged we are to have access to our beach and the animals that inhabit it.

Speaking of the inhabitants of our beaches, it looks like we'll be hanging onto the last few beds of mussels and pipis now that the new intertidal zone fishing ban is in action. Reports across Auckland coastal communities have highlighted how heavily depleted our beaches have become, with gatherers taking everything from limpets and cat's eyes to starfish! I'm not sure what sort of fillets you'd get off these items but whatever the case it's great to see plans being put in place that work towards protecting our wildlife regardless of what size it is. The real test, however, lies in enforcement. While local residents are often willing to step in and educate visitors about the new rules, community monitoring like this has to be handled with care and respect to avoid conflict. Whether Fisheries officers receive the resources needed to uphold these bans effectively is something we'll find out over the summer.

Snapper are on at the moment, however the fish are currently spawning so if you've got enough for a feed try targeting a different species (kingis and trevs are being spotted all over the place), or maybe consider releasing that big fish, knowing it's doing its job replenishing next year's fish stocks.

On the 5th of December we have the 70th birthday celebration of Ōrere Hall. It's hosted thousands of social gatherings, birthdays, school events, and weddings over the years and we'd love you to share your photos and stories. Please email your memories to orerehall@gmail.com or bring them on the day to share at afternoon tea between 2-4pm. You could also join in yoga at 8, games at 10.30, or come along for free burgers and hot chips at 6.30. Hopefully we'll see you there.

That's it for this year, Can't wait for holidays to begin and we get some more settled weather so we can get some dives in. Anyone passing through our way just remember there's still a slip in the Ōrere - Kawakawa Bay gorge, so watch your following distances. If you stop in to Ōrere Point for a drink and stretch of your legs down at the beach, who knows what you might see?

Clevedon A&P Show returns

Fancy a family day out in the country? Be sure to pencil in the Clevedon Agricultural and Pastoral Show on Saturday 21 and Sunday 22 November.

This year the show will chalk up 117 years of bringing agriculture and animals to Clevedon, with the 2026 programme offering something for everyone, including:

- Magician Andre Vegas, whose illusion show has screened on television and has won him awards, will perform on both Saturday and Sunday at 1pm
- Monocycle polo will debut at the show, with players riding self-balancing electric unicycles while wielding standard polo mallets, competing in teams of three in the main ring on both days
- Hop inside a giant inflatable bubble for a fun game of bubble soccer
- Horse lovers can look forward to mounted games and a horse and hounds display
- Sheepdog trials
- Live music, rural sport, livestock competitions, carnival rides and friendly farm animals, along with food and drink

Organisers say there are plenty of free activities for both adults and children.

Younger visitors can enter the colouring competition, which has prizes up for grabs, or try their luck at a guess-the-sheep-weight challenge.

Farming and agricultural vendors will be at the show displaying the latest technology.

For locals, there are plenty of ways to get involved - check the show's website for a list of competitions ranging from wearable arts to baking, preserving, cheese-making and much more. There's even prize money to be won for the heaviest hen egg.

Organisers are looking for volunteers to help the community event run smoothly - if you would like to lend a hand, contact info@clevedonshow.co.nz.

The show runs from 9am to 5pm on Saturday and 9am to 4pm on Sunday at the Clevedon Showgrounds, 107 Monument Road. Tickets are available online through the Clevedon Show website clevedonshow.co.nz. For further information, visit the website or follow the Clevedon Show Facebook page.

Communities plan for Santa

The much-loved Pōhutukawa Coast Santa Parade is back this year, with Santa coming to town on Saturday 5 December.

Community volunteers, led by Andrea Cross, have been busy preparing for the event. With support from the Takutai Charitable Trust, this year's celebration will include local entertainment, Santa's grotto, food and community stalls, and the parade itself.

This year, organisers will recognise parade entries in four categories: education (early childhood centres and schools), business, community groups (non-profit), and classic and muscle cars. Entries can be floats, walking groups or classic and muscle cars. There will be a winner in each category, with prizes up for grabs.

Registering a float or community stall is free. To find out more and register, visit www.pohutukawasanta.co.nz.

If you can volunteer (even for 30 minutes) as a parade marshal or for most of the day as a community stall helper, please contact the team. Organisers are also looking for key sponsors. Business owners who would like to support the event can contact the team at pohutukawasantaparade@gmail.com.

To stay up to date, follow Pōhutukawa Coast Santa Parade on Facebook.

Clevedon Santa Parade

Santa will also make a stop in Clevedon, with the Clevedon Santa Parade and Santa's Grotto on Saturday 5 December at 2.30pm. Organisers are calling for float entries from local schools, businesses, clubs and community groups. To register a float, email events@clevedon.co.nz.

New website lists Christmas lights

Beachlands resident Nick Lakin has made finding this year's Christmas lights easier, thanks to a new website dedicated to the task.

Christmasonthecoast.co.nz features a map of local houses with their Christmas lights up, so families can plan an evening drive or stroll to see the most festive displays.

Anyone with a lit-up house can add it to the map for free, with the map filling up from 1 December. The site also has a what's-on list of local events in the lead-up to Christmas. To explore the map, add your house or see what's on, visit www.christmasonthecoast.co.nz.

Council to consider resource consent application for Sikh place of worship in Brookby

Plans for a Sikh place of worship in Brookby have been updated, with Auckland Council expected to make a decision regarding public notification soon.

Sri Guru Singh Sabha Auckland Inc applied to Auckland Council last year for resource consent to build a gurdwara (Sikh temple) at 96 Kimptons Road, a 27.47ha rural property it bought in 2022.

The application was put on hold while the council sought more information. Updated documents, including a revised assessment of environmental effects dated May 2026 and new engineering and architectural plans, have since been provided.

The single-storey building, with a footprint of about 865m², would include a prayer hall, kitchen and dining area, library, office, children's room, changing rooms and toilets. It has been designed to look residential, with weatherboard and brick cladding.

The facility would only operate on Sundays, with up to 90 people expected at services. Volunteers would arrive at 9.30am to prepare tea and langar (a free community meal), with the congregation arriving from 10.30am for prayers, devotional music and a sermon. Everyone would leave by about 1.30pm.

The applicant says there would be no amplified music or drums, and that the well-insulated building would keep noise on site.

Four special events a year are proposed, in April, August, November and December, which could be held indoors or outdoors, but without singing or musical instruments. The applicant has offered a consent condition requiring a management plan to be provided to the council a month before each event.

A lighting report proposes five 6.4m pole lights in the car park and 10 wall lights, switched on from dusk to dawn by a daylight sensor. The report says light spill at the property boundaries would comply with the rules.

The application includes 33 car parks, on-site wastewater treatment, rainwater tanks for water supply, a stormwater detention tank and about 2000m³ of earthworks. The building's floor would sit above the 1-in-100-year flood level.

Local residents met last Sunday to discuss the application. A spokesperson for the group says they hope the council will notify the application so that residents have the chance to object. Their concerns include traffic safety, on-site wastewater disposal near the Papakura Stream, and overnight lighting despite the application only proposing day-time operations. Residents also point out that the facility would operate on Sundays, which is the only day of the week they get a break from neighbouring Brookby Quarry operations.

Site of the proposed Sikh place of worship on Kimptons Road, Brookby.

Brookby Quarries and nearby MacLachlans Farm Limited have given written approval in support of the application. The applicant says the effects on the area would be less than minor, and has asked for the application to be decided without public or limited notification.

In 2019 Radio New Zealand reported that Sri Guru Singh Sabha Auckland was found guilty of breaching employment agreements, the Minimum Wage Act and the Holiday Act related to two staff who worked at the organisation's Papatoetoe temple. The temple was ordered to pay over $66,000 in lost wages and holiday pay, and compensation for humiliation and loss of dignity. The temple also received a $40,000 penalty for breaching employment laws.

Looking after your skin through the festive season

- by Caci Beachlands

With summer just around the corner and the festive season fast approaching, our calendars are filling up with beach days, family gatherings, holidays and a little well-deserved downtime. While it's an exciting time of year, it's also when our skin can need a little extra love and attention.

One of the most important things you can do for your skin over summer is stay consistent with your SPF. In New Zealand, our UV levels can be particularly high, so applying a broad-spectrum SPF every morning is essential. Remember, applying it once isn't enough! Reapply every two hours, particularly when spending time outdoors, and always reapply after swimming, sweating or towel drying. Wearing a wide-brimmed hat, seeking shade and avoiding prolonged periods in direct sunlight during peak UV hours will also help protect your skin. UV exposure is one of the biggest contributors to premature skin ageing, including fine lines, pigmentation and loss of elasticity, so protecting your skin now is an investment in its future.

The festive season often means travelling, and if you're heading away by plane, don't forget to pack your hydration essentials. Aeroplane cabins have very low humidity, which can leave skin feeling dry, tight and depleted. Opt for gentle, hydrating skincare that supports your skin barrier, and consider adding a nourishing hydration mask to your travel routine. It's an easy way to give your skin some extra TLC while you're away.

Hydration doesn't stop at your skincare routine, either. Between summer activities, celebrations and the occasional festive drink, it's easy to forget to drink enough water. Staying hydrated helps support overall skin health, so keep a water bottle handy and make it part of your daily routine.

As we head towards a new year, it's also a great time to start thinking about your skin goals for 2027. Whether you want to improve hydration, address pigmentation, work on fine lines or simply maintain healthy, glowing skin, having a plan that suits your skin is a great place to start.

Our team at Caci Beachlands would love to help. Book in for a complimentary, no-obligation consultation and let's chat about your skin goals and how we can help you achieve them.

Wishing our local community a happy, healthy and sun-safe festive season!

Caci Beachlands clinic manager, Jess.

FOOD AND ENTERTAINMENT

Cheesy chicken pie recipe

Ingredients (serves 6):
2 Tbsp butter
2 Tbsp flour
2 cups milk
Salt and pepper
1 cup grated mozarella cheese, plus ¼ cup extra for topping
4 large chicken breasts
1 Tbsp olive or rice bran oil
1 tsp tarragon
1 tsp mixed herbs
1 cup frozen peas
½ medium-sized cauliflower
3 sheets premade puff pastry, defrosted
1 egg or ¼ cup milk, for the pastry wash

Method:

1. Preheat oven to 180°C. Grease a large baking dish with oil.
2. Pat chicken dry, then coat in preferred oil, herbs, salt and pepper.
3. Air fry the chicken at 180°C for 25 minutes, or until fully cooked.
4. Remove chicken from the air fryer and shred.
5. In a medium pot over medium-low heat, melt the butter. Add the flour to the melted butter and whisk until combined. Cook until the mixture is frothy.
6. Very gradually add the milk, whisking constantly.
7. Once all the milk is added, bring the mixture to a simmer, whisking until it thickens and reduces (around 10 minutes).
8. Whisk in the salt and pepper.
9. Remove from heat. Gradually add the grated cheese until fully incorporated.
10. Cut the cauliflower into small pieces. Place in a large microwave-safe dish with a splash of water, cover and microwave for around 4 minutes, until cooked.
11. In a large bowl, combine the shredded chicken, cheese sauce, cauliflower and frozen peas.
12. Line the baking dish with puff pastry sheets, pressing right up the sides. Pour in the cheesy chicken mixture and sprinkle over the remaining grated cheese. Cover the top with pastry sheets, making sure all edges are sealed and folded over.
13. Poke a few holes in the top to let steam escape. Brush the top of the pie with either 1 beaten egg or the milk, using a pastry brush.
14. Bake for around 30 minutes, until the top is golden brown and the pastry is fully cooked.
15. Remove from the oven and let sit for 5-10 minutes. Slice, serve and enjoy!

Rocky's Island

My tree house is a magical place,with fluffy pillows and lights that glow with grace. A marshmallow bridge leads to Rocky's tree, where he can play and be wild and free. With me and Brooklyn so happy and sparkly. With Skyla and Kyla tacking the dance floor with dance songs galore. A few hours later it turned dark, a black night sky. We sat by the table with a lovely pie. The wind blew softly as the trees swayed high, Then a shooting star came zooming by! It sparkled and shimmered way up high, As we watched it disappear into the sky. Now it's time for bed, the stars are shining bright, The moon is glowing softly throughout the night. I went hopping to my bed with a big happy smile, I jumped on my pillow and rested for a while. I snuggled in my blankets, all cosy and warm, While outside the stars sparkled through the storm. I closed my eyes and said goodnight, then drifted away into dreamland tonight. Just as I was about to fall asleep, I heard a strange sound, a creepy little peep. Scritch, scratch, scritch! came from outside, I slowly sat up and looked to the side. The stars disappeared behind a cloud in the sky, and suddenly the whole room went dark—oh my! Then from underneath my bed came a tiny voice, "Help me…" it whispered, leaving me no choice. I slowly looked under my bed with a fright, but there was nothing there, not even a light. I jumped back into bed and pulled up my sheet, Then I heard a little giggle from underneath my feet. I closed my eyes and tried not to cry, and soon the dark cloud moved away from the sky. The stars came back and started to glow, and finally I fell asleep nice and slow.
